NUMBER 47

Sonny Inman Honored By Green Beret

MRS. NELL COOPER, of Elba, is shown receiving her check for $1000 from Piggly Wiggly Manager, B. T. Stanford. She won the money in the store's Match 'N Cash game on the purchase of a 39¢ jar of mayonnaise and a 29¢ bag of candy. Stanford is quoted as saying, "Why I was more excited than Mrs. Cooper". Mrs. Cooper added, "I had to go home and lie down after it was all over. . . I just couldn't believe it."

Louis F. (onny) Inman, of Elba, has been named a lifetime honorary member of the United States Special Forces of the U. S. Army. His letter of membership, signed by Major General, Pierce R. Calley, Jr., well, Commanding General of the elite soldiers, was signed by a man in a green beret. The beret is the official headgear of the Special Forces.

Inman was one of the first men chosen to be a paratrooper in the year 1950. As a lieutenant in the Rangers, he already had extensive training in the very things necessary for the Special Forces.

Later Lieutenant Inman was sent to the first United States unit of Special Forces to be sent to Korea. Inman had been in the service for 18 months when he was captured by the enemy and was held in a prisoner of war camp until Operation Big Switch, when the U. S. and North Korea exchanged all prisoners.

In an interview with this newspaper, Inman revealed that he still has a hard time still using the basic concepts that his group of 10 officers and 100 men operated with in 1950 when they were organized under the name of the Psychological Warfare Department of the U. S. Army.

At the University, Miss Turner was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

HAPPENINGS THAT Affect the Future of Every Individual National and International Problems are inseparable from Local Welfare.

Election day 1968 is beginning to cast its shadow across the political landscape. Unless he chooses not to run for some presently unforeseen reason, President Johnson will be the Democratic standard bearer. Granting that it will not be easy, Republican strategists generally believe that President Johnson can be defeated in 1968, and because of this the Republican presidential nomination promises to be a hotly pursued political plum. Opinion polls taken just before convention time will strongly influence the final choice.

At the present moment, Mr. Nixon is front-runner for the nomination. This is the opinion of Republican leaders in all 50 states polled in a recent U. S. News & World report telephone survey. Mr. Romney is considered the most likely second choice. According to U. S. News, "Many top party people expect the Republican National Convention to turn into a head-on struggle between the forces of Mr. Nixon and those of Mr. Romney. If neither of these men gets a majority of the 1,333 delegates, the final choice could come from among half a dozen others, including 'favorite son' candidates."

Among these will be Governor Rockefeller of New York, Senator Charles Percy, the new senator from Illinois, Ronald Reagan, Governor of California, now the nation's most populous state, and James Rhodes, Governor of Ohio, who has proven his campaigning ability by impressive election victories in his own state. It is generally felt that if Mr. Nixon is to win the nomination he must do so in the early stages of the convention. Although most Republicans consider him the most qualified, he carries with him the burden of having lost the presidential race in 1960 and the governorship of California in 1962. According to the U. S. News survey, Nixon is the betting choice of party officials in 25 states with 610 convention votes, but his commanding lead could quickly melt away if repeated balloting should give time for doubt of his winning ability to develop among delegates on the convention floor. If this should happen, Governor Romney is now expected to be next in line. His campaign organization will be devoted to establishing him as a national figure of decisive character, with the force to carry a national election. But some feel he is starting too early and so far there has not been the kind of enthusiasm toward Governor Romney that will be needed.

For the time being, Governor Romney has the wholehearted support of Governor Rockefeller, whose vast personal resources and contacts combined with his experience as Governor of New York, make him one of the most knowledgeable and influential figures on the Republican political scene. He has stated unequivocally that he is not in contention for the nomination, but the pressures on him to reconsider will be great as the convention deadline nears. At this stage, neither Senator Charles Percy nor Ohio's Governor Rhodes are well enough known on the national scene to appear likely as contenders for the top position on the ticket, but this can change in the months ahead, and Senator Percy does have one advantage at present over any of the top-running contenders - he has no established powerful political enemies. Governor Reagan's meteoric rise in California, undimmed by several months in office, makes him a growing force of as yet undetermined proportions. Although the Eastern Wing of the Republican party Fathers will receive special attention as the CowBelles and Cattlemen encourage the public to eat beef on Father's Day, Sunday, June 18.

The "Beef For Father's Day" program is being staged throughout Alabama in cooperation with local grocery stores, packers, restaurants, hotels and cattle producers to make beef the traditional dish for Father's Day.

Cooperating with the Cattlemen and CowBelles, Governor Lurleen Wallace, Mayors and Judges have proclaimed that beef shall be the traditional dish to be served on Father's Day. More than 500,000 posters, banners, signs, place mats and beef recipes, have been distributed encouraging the housewife to serve beef and encouraging the public to order beef when eating out.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Phelps, of New Brockton, had as their guests last week, Misses Merle and Mary Ann King, of Houston, Texas, and Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hayes, of Atlanta, Georgia.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Ed McDaniel, Cathy and Ed, Mrs. J. D. Phelps and Cathy Smith, of New Brockton, spent last weekend at Mineral Springs, Florida, with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith.

Retirement Benefits Less

A study by the Tax Foundation shows that if Congress raises the Social Security taxes a 21 year old just entering the system isn't going to make out too well. The foundation says such a person will contribute $32,496 in taxes and accumulated interest over a 44-year work period, while—based on a life expectancy of 18 years after retirement—could only collect $19,704 in benefits.

Beef cattle is one of the state's largest and most important industries, with an annual income of more than 121 million dollars. The Beef For Father's Day program is sponsored annually by the Alabama CowBelles and by the Alabama Cattlemen's Association.

Did you know that a faucet leaking 60 drops a minute will waste about 2,300 gallons of water in a year, and neglecting to put in a new washer may result in a damaged fitting? Here are a few tips that will help you add years of service and satisfaction to your equipment:

1. Fix leaky faucets immediately to avoid costly damage.

2. Use a rubber plunger to clear obstructions beyond drain traps. Don't use drain chemicals without trying this first.

3. Keep foreign objects out of drains. Never pour grease, fats or oils down them.

4. Drain a few quarts of water from your water heater every few weeks. This will remove sediment and prolong heater life.

5. When repairing fixtures, always put the jaws of your wrench-taping is good — to prevent marbling.

6. Use nonabrasive cleaners on enamel fixtures and chrome-plated fittings.

7. Be sure your water heater's thermostat is set at the recommended level for hot water.

8. In building, do not skimp on the size of water piping installed. Larger pipes will provide adequate supply as well as prevent bothersome noise.

WALLPAPER Contrary to the song, "Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home," most women prefer to substitute handsome for humble.

Through the magic of modern wallpaper construction and design, vinyl impregnated wall coverings are sumptuous and durable. Among the newest washable wallpapers are some which feature flocking applied to a base of vinyl-impregnated nylon and polyester, mellow colors and impressive designs inspired by 16th Century ecclesiastical garb.

The flocking fairly invites regular sudsing because it will not mat, discolor or flake off when washed.

Manufacturers urge women to literally scrub them with soap or detergent suds at least once a year — even more in a dusty neighborhood. Use washings, apply soap or detergent suds over a small area.

Alabama Electric Co-op Steam Plant Near Completion

Alabama Electric Co-op Steam Plant, a $12 million steam power plant which will produce power for use by home and industrial consumers in Elba, Elba County is nearing 50% completion, Basil Thompson, Elba Electric Co-op announced this week.

The new plant, one of the largest industrial developments now underway in South Alabama, is being built on the Tomlinson River in Washington County, near Jackson. Several hundred miles of giant high capacity transmission lines will conduct the power across the state, bringing benefits of an expanded source of power to some 500,000 people in South Alabama and Northwest Florida.

Some 6,896 homes and businesses in Coffee County served by the lines of the Covington Electric Co-operative, the Wiregrass South Alabama Electric Cooperative, Inc., and the city of Elba will benefit from the new Alabama Electric plant which will generate power and transmit it to the local distributors.

The 66,000 kilowatt steam plant is expected to be in use by mid-1968. Construction began in the spring of 1966 after the project was delayed some three years by the opposition of the Alabama and Gulf Power Companies. Alabama Supreme Court upheld Alabama Electric's right to build the facility to meet the expanding needs for more electrical power in the area served by Alabama Electric's member systems.

SHOPPING Does that all box of cereal catch your eye? Better check the weight — and the weight of the smaller cereal — not the most wrapper — for your money. Wise shopping takes time. Take your time and know what you are spending your money for.

DISHWASHER First of all, dishwashers are important in good performance — all machines do a better job with soft water than with hard water.

Use compounds suited to your local water conditions can help your dishwasher do a better job. But don't try to solve the problem of hard water just by using more detergent. The researchers say to follow the recommendations of your dishwasher's manufacturer.

Miss Mathis Receives Special Recognition

Seven Department of the Army civilian employees at the U. S. Army Aviation Center, Ft. Rucker, have been given special recognition for their outstanding service.

Among those receiving outstanding performance ratings were Miss Patsy Mathis, of Elba, a secretary for the Aviation School's Department of Advanced Fixed Wing Training.

The Society says: "Something as simple as putting on a long-sleeved shirt or a broad-brimmed hat, or both, may save one from developing skin cancer. Most skin cancers are caused by over-exposure to the sun. A beach umbrella can be protective on the beach or lawn. So can an application of lotion or of cream."

Those who spend a lot of time outdoors at work or at play should be wary of over-exposure to the sun. The fair-haired and fair-skinned and the elderly should have special respect for the sun. But Before Refilling Give your freezer a chance to serve you better by cleaning it before you stock it with fresh fruits and vegetables.

All freezers, even the self-defrosting type, need cleaning at least once a year. Something may have spilled on the bottom or you may have misplaced some packages that need to be used.

To defrost, disconnect the freezer and remove all packages, says Gena Speakman, Extension Housekeeping and equipment specialist. If you have room in the refrigerator, that's a good place to store the frozen food. Or, wrapping the packages in several thick layers of paper and then covering with a blanket will keep the food frozen while you clean the freezer.

You can remove light fluffiness by using a dull-edged rubber, plastic or wooden scraper. Don't use anything sharp because it may damage the freezer lining, warns Mrs. Speakman. Towels placed in the bottom will catch the frost as it falls.

Lead and heavy frost must be melted. An electric fan placed so it will blow air into the freezer will help speed the melting process. Put the fan on a chair or stool and be sure you don't touch it as you wipe up the moisture.

After all ice and frost have been removed, wash the inside of the freezer with a solution of one tablespoon baking soda to one quart of water, rinse and wipe dry. Wash the rubber gasket around the door with warm soapy water and then rinse.

Public Should Watch For Signs Of Skin Cancer

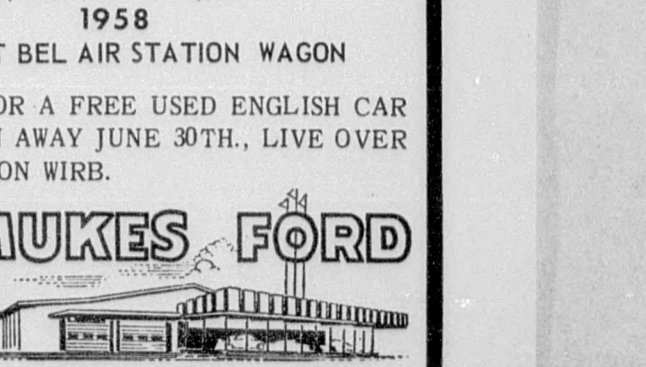

Some 85,000 people in the United States die of skin cancer in 1966 and about 5,000 died of it. The 5,000 deaths do not seem so many in relation to all cancer deaths, but the number is significant when you know that many of these deaths could have been avoided and, in fact, most cases of skin cancer can be prevented, according to the American Cancer Society.

The American Cancer Society has included skin cancer control in its five-year action program to save lives from cancer. Now in its second year, this program seeks to greatly reduce the number of deaths from cancer by 1970.

The Society's program calls for widespread dissemination of information to aid in preventing skin cancer that results from excessive exposure to the sun and from environment.

The Society says: "Something as simple as putting on a long-sleeved shirt or a broad-brimmed hat, or both, may save one from developing skin cancer. Most skin cancers are caused by over-exposure to the sun. A beach umbrella can be protective on the beach or lawn. So can an application of lotion or of cream."

Helicopters Crash - Kill Two Near New Brockton

A fiery helicopter crash claimed the lives of two flyers and cost another a leg early Monday morning near New Brockton. Both helicopters were from Fort Rucker.

The Army identified the dead as R. C. Gambrell, age 34, of Brinson, Georgia and 2nd Lieutenant Peter J. Arnold, age 22, of Bay Village, Ohio. Gambrell was an instructor pilot employed by Ross Aviation as was Shiron L. Temple of Enterprise, who was the injured pilot in the crash.

The Enterprise Fire Department and County and State law enforcement officers responded immediately to the call for help following the crash.

This brings to seven the total of helicopter pilots stationed at Ft. Rucker who have been killed in crashes this year.

NEW JAYCEE PRESIDENT Wayne Steward is caught in the traditional "pinning" ceremony at the Jaycee installation banquet last Saturday night.

The "pinning" is performed by the wife of the new Jaycee president each year. Jaycees recognize that a successful Jaycee president must have the help and support of his wife and this is her pledge to help.

When Deanie Stewart pinned the president's pin on her husband's lapel she is indicating "I will help make your year as president a success".

FOLLOWING THE JAYCEE BANQUET at the Elba Country Club, outgoing president, Bill Fulllove and his wife, Sue, chat with State Vice President Dick Kelley, of Enterprise, right, and guest speaker Jim Hart, of Montgomery. Hart is Executive Vice President of the Alabama Petroleum Council and an active Jaycee.

Hart formerly wrote the "Traveling Alabama" series of articles that appeared in this and many other Alabama newspapers.

The speaker gave an interesting and inspiring talk on the many benefits of the Jaycees. It was evident to the listening audience that Hart knew his subject, knew how to talk about his subject, and was experienced in making interesting and effective speeches.

Guests receiving awards for service to the Jaycees during the past year were: Sawyer Candy Co., The Peoples Bank, The Elba Clipper, New Brockton Propane Gas, National Security Insurance Co., and Mr. Bernard Martin.

Brockton Lady Bitten By A Stick

Late Tuesday afternoon of last week, Mrs. Lucille Hayes of New Brockton, was bitten by a poisonous snake while working in her flowers.

She picked up what she thought was a stick and before she could turn it loose she was bitten three times on the hand and lower arm. It is not known just what kind of snake she picked up because a later search failed to turn up one of any kind. Authorities surmise that she picked up either a Copperhead or a ground rattler. The Copperhead is the most popular belief.

Mrs. Hayes was rushed to Enterprise hospital where she was treated and her entire arm packed in ice to control the swelling as much as possible.

She was later moved to a Mobile hospital by her son, Dr. Robert Hayes, Jr., a practicing physician in Brewton. Medical authorities feared that Mrs. Hayes may lose some of her fingers but latest reports have not indicated any yes or no answer to this question.
